

ACXIOM'S CDP SERVICES AND SOLUTIONS:

OPTIMIZE YOUR CDP INITIATIVES & INVESTMENT

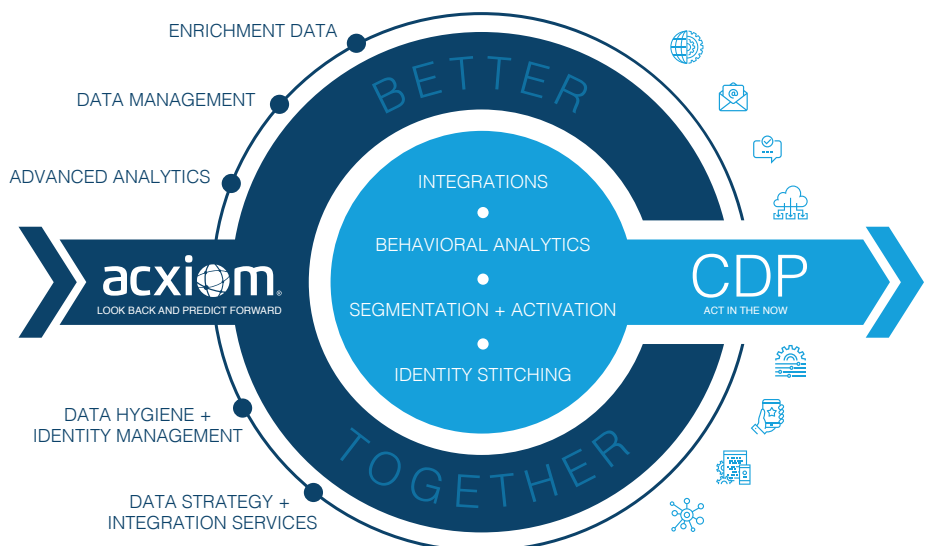

A COMPREHENSIVE SUITE OF CUSTOMER DATA PLATFORM OFFERINGS

Individuals expect personalized experiences and for brands to recognize them at every touchpoint, whether browsing a website, engaging with a social media post, or making an in-store purchase. Those expectations present businesses with the daunting task of integrating an often-fragmented view of the customer across business functions, technologies, and interactions. However difficult, recognizing that person is the foundation of experience management to ensure every customer experience is positive, creating a strong relationship with the brand.

CDPs are powerful tools that are reshaping the martech space and evolving brands' capabilities to unify known personally identifiable information (PII) and anonymous customer signals. CDPs are off-the-shelf software products, and they create the potential for enormous value for the brands that use them and the customers who interact with those brands. But no single tool or platform can solve all the complex challenges brands face; proven omnichannel solutions powered by experienced professionals with the -expertise to orchestrate data between online and offline environments are essential. For marketing to be successful, brands must better understand and connect with people, knowing who individuals are and what cross-channel data tells us about their preferences.
