

REAL IDENTITY BY ACXIOM FOR PHARMACEUTICAL BRANDS

IDENTIFY AND CONNECT WITH PEOPLE ANYTIME, ANYWHERE

Millions of patients and healthcare professionals go about their days in perpetual motion—adding to a complex network of personal and professional relationships, each influencing their own identity in the world around them. They're constantly changing—jobs, relationship status, life stage, health needs, and the devices and channels they use to interact with you.

Your brand's ability to break through the noise and build lasting relationships with patients and healthcare professionals is only as good as your ability to manage their identity and keep up with changes in their known and digital lives. Acxiom Real Identity™ solutions help the world's biggest pharmaceutical brands accurately identify and connect with patients and healthcare professionals to create exceptional experiences over time.

PHARMA REAL IDENTITY USE CASES

Only Acxiom delivers global identity solutions at scale across multiple use cases and platforms to ensure pharmaceutical brands have and keep a competitive edge in all people-based activities.

PERSONALIZE

Deliver highly personalized offers and engagements to high-value audiences based on a holistic patient and healthcare professional view across all channels.

REAL-TIME RESOLUTION

Access real-time digital identity resolution via a scalable API in the cloud to enable next-best offers, website personalization and improved analytics for anonymous and known site visitors.

OPTIMIZATION

Amplify customer data platforms and other marketing tech with first-in-class, scalable identity capabilities.

COMPLIANCE

Maintain privacy and compliance with HIPAA, industry, and government regulations with the ability look up and remove consumer information.

ANALYTICS

Leverage real-time identity resolution in a flexible and scalable way (your environments, our environments, vendor partner environments) to achieve closed-loop insights through highly accurate attribution and measurement across all channels and devices.

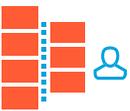

HYGIENE

Accurate data is foundational, wherever and however a pharma brand is looking to successfully engage with people. Acxiom's global hygiene services cleanse, standardize, and enhance patient and healthcare professional contact data, including multiple email addresses, phone numbers, names and postal addresses to drive cost savings and increase operational/marketing efficiencies.

RESOLUTION

Brand-owned referential graphs provide important information to inform and improve identity resolution. Our deterministic approach uses external third-party identity reference graphs in combination with a brand's first-party data and configurable rule sets to determine real people in an actual household. Yet to be most effective, they need an engine to drive the continuing association of an individual's new and changing data into an ever-evolving identity profile to improve customer insights and drive better customer experiences.

MANAGEMENT

Identity is an ongoing process; Acxiom's identity management service provides ongoing oversight and optimization to ensure identity evolves with your business. We leverage more than 50 years of expertise to combine components of our identity portfolio to support your brand's unique view of identity for your business. We strategically layer artificial intelligence and machine learning into our products and processes to create a stronger solution for pharma brands all while leveraging best in class privacy and compliance standards to protect your brand equity.

CONSULTING

Determining identity is complex and sometimes hard—such as when businesses are facing looming regulatory deadlines and have no plan to respond or when marketers are trying to connect with people through an ever-growing omnichannel environment. Acxiom can help your organization assess and design the optimal identity solution based on your unique requirements, resources and leveraging existing systems. Tap into Acxiom's more than 50 years of expertise to build identity solutions to drive your brand forward.
